Amesbury, MA, is located in Essex county, about 9 miles NE of Haverhill MA and 35 miles N of Boston, Massachusetts. The town is part of the Boston metropolitan statistical area.

Amesbury was settled in the year 1642. It was initially recognized as "Salisbury New Town" until 1666, when it formally separated from Salisbury. The Powwow River originally formed the boundary between Amesbury and Salisbury. The area was incorporated as "Amesbury" in the year 1668. It was named after Amesbury in Wiltshire, England. It began as a modest farming community and later developed to form an aggressive maritime and industrial economy.

Shipbuilding, shipping and fishing have traditionally been important occupations for the people of Amesbury.
