Eastham, MA is 36 miles E of Plymouth, MA (center to center) and 66 miles SE of Boston.

The original settlers in this region were Nauset Indians. Founded by Thomas Prence and a group of pilgrims from Plymouth, this community was officially incorporated in 1651. Truro, Wellfleet, Eastham, Orleans, and a tiny portion of Chatham were originally part of Eastham. Railroads arrived in 1870, enabling the shipping of asparagus, cranberries, oysters, cod, and mackerel, and after the Cape Cod National Seashore was established by President John F. Kennedy in 1961, Eastham became known as the "Gate" to this seashore.
